ABOUT THE EVENT

With the coronavirus pandemic leading to an increasingly remote workforce, cyber security is more important now than ever. One in five data breaches are the direct result of employee error, yet according to ISACA Cybersecurity Culture Report, only 58 percent of organisations have outlined a cybersecurity culture plan or policy. There is recognition that technical cybersecurity measures do not operate in a vacuum and need to operate in harmony with other business processes. But is your organisation ahead of the game when it comes to enlisting a workforce ready to mitigate cyber risk?

Don't just focus on the 'lock and keys' of cybersecurity, it is crucial to the success of creating a cyber secure organisation that you remember people are the weakest link. You need to create an environment where employees become robust human firewalls against cyber attacks, a failure to embark on this change means your organisation is open to risk.

Changing the knowledge, attitudes, and values of people regarding cybersecurity is not something that happens overnight. Managing a successful cybersecurity culture requires leaders and a plan. This interactive two-day workshop will take you through an entire cybersecurity culture change. It will provide you with the tools to make better, clearer connections between strategic organisational plans and day-to-day work. You will walk away with a practical risk identification, cyber resilience strategy action plan to foster a compliant culture to defend against cyber crime.

WHO WILL ATTEND?

Cross-functional interactive workshop aimed at middle managers and direct line managers now responsible for remote or distributed teams, as well as HR specialists and security champions across departments:

- HR Managers / People & Culture
- Information security managers
- Corporate governance managers
- Risk and compliance managers
- IT and corporate security managers

WORKSHOP AGENDA

What you need to know about cybersecurity - Do you understand and care about the why?

- Bust the myths around cybersecurity, explore emerging trends
- Understand the long-term impacts of cybercrime

What does security look like at your organisation?

- Introducing the concepts behind the Business Model for Information Security

Activity: Using the model as a guide, determine which way your organisation leans currently and how you think it should look

Crafting a cyber secure mindset - Culture is everything particularly when times are hard!

- Connecting the dots between technology requirements and the expectations of the organisation
- Embrace the mindset that cyber is everyone's responsibility particularly during COVID-19
- Working remotely: a combination of security and human connectivity driving organisational culture
- Understand the importance of a cross-functional approach to cybersecurity: keeping everyone informed

Activity: Revisit how you thought your organisation should look from a security perspective. Do you still think this is accurate? How do think it should look now?

It's all about the people

- Turn your most valuable assets into a weapon against cyber crime
- Create a sound understanding of the employees' role in a security culture
- Explore the impacts of diversity - Know your employees' behaviours and norms
- Culture challenges and the new normal
- Create a safe environment for employees to report incidents without fear of consequences

Activity: Develop a strategy for your organisation that will contribute to a robust, adaptable cyber resilience strategy

Gain security buy in with key stakeholder engagement

- The gap between the Board, the Executive and you - How to plug the gap with an effective strategy
- How the Board and Executive think - understand how to influence them through appropriate communications

What happens if (or when) it goes wrong?

- Explore current and emerging security breaches - Real world case studies
- How should the business act and respond

Culture change extends beyond awareness - Next steps to defend against cyber-crime

Activity: Review of your cyber resilience strategy

Activity: Create an Action plan for next steps to develop security champions
