ABOUT THE EVENT

Lawyers in the Public Sector are facing a unique set of challenges as legal practice, legislation and the definition of their role are constantly changing. In today's evolving environment, the demands on Government Lawyers not only encompass the variety of responsibilities and duties within the legal capacity, but also require strong leadership, communication and stakeholder management capabilities.

While Government Lawyers and Legal Officers in Australia have firm knowledge of the law and legal procedures, the gap is often in providing applicable solutions and practical advice for effective policy-making, project management, statutory interpretation, and dispute resolution and negotiation processes.

This two-day workshop specifically addresses these issues and provides practical solutions to fast-track the acquisition of leadership essentials for lawyers to step up into leadership roles. As they transition from an expert legal adviser to a leader and business partner, it is imperative to master effective communication skills, build trust and credibility with clients, inspire teams to achieve high performance, and drive robust business outcomes. This interactive workshop format will provide attendees with practical insights and applicable tips to achieve leadership success.
