ABOUT THE EVENT

Construction, Infrastructure and Engineering are rapidly becoming New Zealand's biggest boom sector, fuelling economic growth across the country. Investment in major projects is set to grow by $28 billion by 2025, and workforces are projected to expand at as much as twice the national job growth rate.

In this thriving but competitive space, leaders must be both technically proficient and business savvy. They need to be capable of solving complex business and client-facing problems quickly and efficiently. Even the most technically accomplished professionals recognise that technology and business skills alone will not assure either effective leadership or strategic thinking. To be a leader and add strategic value to your organisation, you need to complement your occupational expertise with breakthrough leadership and coherent strategic business planning skills.

This practical, hands-on two-day workshop will examine the many moving parts and the key ingredients of a high-performing leader in this tough, but dynamic environment. This specially designed program will provide you with the leadership skills, techniques, and tools to maximise your value as a leader.

TRAINING DELIVERY AND PRE-COURSE QUESTIONNAIRE

This workshop will be delivered using a three tiered approach. The structure of each session is as follows:

1. Technical overview and review of research into the topic area under discussion
2. Practical application of management principles in the review of case studies, worked examples and interactive exercises
3. Discussion of outcomes and implementation issues

Workshop participants will have the opportunity to include comments and questions about issues outlined in the program by way of a pre-course questionnaire. This feedback will enable the course facilitator to adjust content accordingly. The workshop has limited places to allow for customisation, greater interactivity and for individual concerns to be addressed.
